RE: Shanna Lynn Hughitt v. State
PD-0275-18 / Court of Appeal Cause 11-15-00277-CR
PD-0276-18 / Court of Appeal Cause 11-15-00278-CR

Dear Ms. Williamson:

In the above-referenced case, the State filed a single petition for discretionary review challenging, in two grounds, the court of appeals' resolution of two cause numbers (which arose from a joint trial on two indictments). This Court assigned two PD-numbers to the case. Thereafter, this Court granted review on only one of the State's issues—ground one. That ground does not challenge the court of appeals' resolution of the possession of a controlled substance offense in Cause PD-0276-18 / Court of Appeal Cause 11-15-00278-CR. There are not unresolved issues involving that case that would need to be addressed in the event of a remand.

The State is not currently aware of any adverse consequences to Appellant from the continued pendency of the possession offense in this Court. She is not eligible for an appellate bond and did not receive probation. At the same time, the State believes there is no longer a live issue that could affect that case, and thus, it should be dismissed or refused.

Thank you.
